Guide

Your class teacher, and any teacher who may have taught you through school, knows if you need some extra help to meet targets. They spend time with you in the classroom, talk to your grown-ups and see how you approach home learning challenges.

How will my teachers help me?

Your class teacher will be happy to talk to you about any worries or concerns you have. You could speak to your grown-ups at home if you think you need some extra help.

Mrs Taylor, Mrs Shildrick and Miss Johnson will also be able to listen to you and find ways to help you.

Your class teacher will give you support, or resources, to help you complete activities in school. Your teacher will also work with your grown-ups to find out about any challenges you have at home and they will work together to find solutions to any problems. Your teacher will give you lots of feedback to celebrate your effort and learning and they will make suggestions to help you develop further.

What will happen when I move to a new class?

Before you move to a new class, your teacher will speak to the new members of staff so they know all about you. They will learn about your personality, how you like to learn and how to help you if you are worried. Your teachers work as a team to make sure your transition is happy and successful. If you are moving to a new school, Barley Fields will speak to the new teachers and we will arrange for you to spend time with them before you move.
